Mayor Garcia on Straight Talk

Robert Garcia
Mayor
City of Long Beach

Long Beach Mayor Robert Garcia joins us to review the accomplishments of his first year in office and his plans for the future.

Mayor Garcia submitted his budget for Fiscal Year 2016, beginning October 1, 2015, to the City Council for their consideration. The budget is balanced and in fact has a slight surplus, which will go towards paying down the unfunded liability on our city pensions.

One of the major initiatives, started under Mayor Foster, is the creation of a new Civic Center in downtown funded by a public private partnership. The PPP private partner has been selected and plans are now being finalized to submit to the City Council, following a community outreach process. The Civic Center will also include a new headquarters for the Port of Long Beach.

Mayor Garcia has focused on economic development and education in his first year in office. He has pushed to create additional internship opportunities for our youth, hopefully leading to employment opportunities. See the Guest Column by Mayor Garcia on page 13.

Mayor Garcia will be our guest on the Straight Talk Show airing the weeks of September 26 & October 3.

Authenticity as a Political Value

Donald Trump and Bernie Sanders are both polling strongly and attracting large crowds, to the surprise of most political pundits and others as well.

What do these two men have in common?

Certainty not their political beliefs. One is a socialist and the other is a multi-billionaire businessman. I would suggest that it is their authenticity. You may not agree with their specific views on politics, but you feel you are getting the real Donald and the real Bernie when they speak. They do not filter their views through pollsters and advisors. They just let it rip.

Bernie Sanders hasn't changed his views in 26 years since he was mayor of Burlington, Vermont. He is the only socialist in the U.S. Senate. You may not agree with his views, but you know you are getting his long-held beliefs.

Donald Trump's views have changed over the years, yet when you watch him sit down face to face with experienced TV interviewers, there is no doubt that you are getting his unvarnished views of the moment.

Why is this so appealing to voters? I would suggest that it is a refreshing change from years of speeches honed by pollsters, which are so common in the political scene.

There is a hunger for authenticity. People don't want to be pandered to. They want real solutions to real problems. The failure of Congress to address many of the major problems facing our country has left the electorate yearning for the real thing.

Regardless of whether either of these two presidential candidates makes it into the final round, I predict that the likely winners will be ones who inspire the trust of the electorate, and whose strong suit is credibility and sincerity.

I believe the country is ready to face our real problems squarely, and will be attracted to a candidate or candidates who will tell it like it is, however unpleasant the news.

The famous line in A Few Good Men comes to mind. Delivered in the courtroom by Jack Nicolson (Col. Jessup) to Tom Cruise (Lt. Kaffee) "You Can't Handle the Truth!"

The question facing the country is whether we can handle the truth and support the person who is speaking it.

ICT Announces 31st Season

International City Theatre has announced its 31st Season with five critically acclaimed plays by six multiple award-winning writers. The season opens on February 12, 2016 at the Long Beach Performing Arts Center.

The playwrights are: Lee Blessing, Christopher Durang, Donald Margulies, John Patrick Shanley and lyricist/composer duo Richard Maltby, Jr. and David Shire.

“For ICT, this will be the year of the word-smith,” says artistic director caryn desai. “We want to celebrate our great contemporary living writers. These are writers who may have also written for other mediums, but have never left the theater. They have invested their careers in writing for the theater.”

ICT 2016 Season

Feb. 12 – March 6: *Closer than Ever — Filled with hilarious and poignant songs about dating, parenting, aging and dreams both fulfilled and unrequited, Closer Than Ever is like a musical “how-to” manual for life. With each song a self-contained story inspired by real-life experiences, its message to value the little things in life remains timeless.

April 29 – May 22: *A Walk in the Woods — Nearing the end of the Cold War, a pair of arms negotiators — a clever, cynical Russian and an idealistic young American — meet in the woods outside Geneva to explore the obstacles their countries face on the path to peace. There, they debate politics, life and the future of the free world. Can personal bonds bridge political chasms?

June 10 – July 3: *Vanya and Sonia and Masha and Spike — Middle-aged siblings Vanya and Sonia live an angst-ridden, melancholic existence on their family farm. Housecleaner-cum-soothsayer Cassandra, whose hilariously ambiguous prophecies keep them befuddled, provides the only break from monotony. That is, until their glamorous movie-star sister, Masha, swans in for a surprise visit-along with her hunky 20-something boy toy, Spike.

Aug. 19 – Sept. 11: *Doubt: A Parable — It is 1964, a time of movement and change, but Catholic school principal Sister Aloysius values a stern hand over progressive education. When evidence points to an inappropriate relationship between Father Flynn and the school’s first black student, she begins a crusade to rid the church of him.

Oct. 14 – Nov. 6: *Shipwrecked! An Entertainment—The Amazing Adventures of Louis de Rougemont (as Told by Himself) — An intrepid explorer who became an instant celebrity upon his return to civilization, Rougemont’s amazing tales of bravery, survival and exotic locales left 19th century England spellbound. But was it real or just a figment of his imagination? Will he be vindicated or will his reputation be ruined forever?

Community Hospital Fundraising Campaign

The Community Hospital of Long Beach (CHLB) Foundation Emergency Department Challenge Campaign is at its half-way point towards raising $500,000 to receive a matching gift of $500,000 for a total of $1 million.

The project is to upgrade the Emergency Department and is composed of four phases.

Phase One: $80,000 – ED Lobby Renovation (completed).

Phase Two: $150,000 – Upgrades to nurses' and physicians' Work Stations (completed).

Phase Three: $200,000 – 21 Treatment Bay refurbishments.

Long Beach e-Prix

The Long Beach e-Prix will return to the City streets on Saturday, April 2, 2016. The FIA World Motor Sport Council recently approved the calendar for the second season of the FIA Formula E Championship, with Long Beach scheduled as the sixth of 11 rounds in the series. Overall, 10 venues will host Formula E events with the 2015-16 season beginning once again in Beijing on October 17, 2015.

Last year's inaugural Long Beach e-Prix saw 20 single-seat electric race cars take the green flag on a modified 1.6-mile, seven-turn portion of the iconic Grand Prix race course in front of more than 20,000 in attendance. Nelson Piquet Jr. won the race by 1.7 seconds over Jean-Eric Vergne, and went on to win the first FIA Formula E Championship last month.

"It's extremely exciting to welcome the e-Prix back to Long Beach for a second year, and we are hopeful that this demonstration of innovation, sustainability and cutting edge technology will return to our city year after year," said Long Beach Mayor Robert Garcia.

"We're delighted that Formula E has again chosen Long Beach as one of its premier venues for 2016," said Jim Michaelian, President/CEO of the Grand Prix Association of Long Beach, which will again operate the event.

Port of Long Beach

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has awarded the Port of Long Beach's Security Division $3.4 million in grants to fund ongoing projects that protect the Port. The grants will enhance port security systems, including the Virtual Port System, and improve their resilience.

"Protecting workers and the community, as well as ensuring business continuity, are top priorities at the Port of Long Beach," said Lori Ann Guzmán, President of the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

Spencer Snyder Group

The Spencer Snyder Group is donating 4% of all commissions to charity. A special feature of the program is that the buyer or seller can choose the charity. Of the commissions generated from the sale of the home, 4% will go directly to the buyer or seller's charitable organization of choice.

As an example to his two daughters, Spencer Snyder pledged a percentage of his commission income for the summer of 2014 to Miller Children's Hospital, thereby generating $10,000 for the hospital.

2015 is on track to outpace 2014's numbers. Holding true to his philanthropic passion, Spencer has announced a campaign called Listing4Love, which encourages real estate brokers to pledge a portion of their commission income to charitable causes.

In June 2015, the Spencer Snyder Group facilitated the largest residential brokerage transaction in Long Beach history. This generated a donation of $20,000 to the Listing4Love Program which was given to the Autism Partners Foundation.

The Long Beach Internship Challenge

by

Mayor Robert Garcia

The foundation of a successful and prosperous city is education. My own education is what brought me to where I am today. My top priority as Mayor is to strengthen our already stellar schools and support all our students in achieving their educational and career goals.

That's why one of my first acts when taking office a year ago was to announce a major education initiative in collaboration with Cal State Long Beach, Long Beach City College and the Long Beach Unified School District to expand the nationally renowned Long Beach College Promise.

The initiative focuses on interventions at three critical stages of education — pre-school, college, and career planning. In particular, we want to double the number of internships, for pay or for course credit, available to Long Beach students.

To accomplish this, I want to ask for your help.

Currently in Long Beach, where there are 80,000 public students, there are just 1,500 internships. My office has been working for a year with local educational, business and non-profit leaders to encourage and support more businesses in offering internships, to help schools place more students, and to assist students in being prepared for the intern experience.

Our goal is not only to support students having a learning experience, but also to increase their chances of being permanently hired after their internships are completed.

This spring, we officially launched the Internship Challenge.

At an event at the Aquarium of the Pacific, leaders in business, nonprofits, government and education convened to hear from employers, educators, and student interns about how they can support this important initiative. We asked local businesses to register with the Internship Challenge and offer more internship positions to Long Beach youth. The response was great, but we still need more employers to step up and provide a meaningful and challenging educational internship experience to our students.

If you are an employer, or work for a business, nonprofit or other organization that can provide internships, I want to ask you to please register at www.lbinternshipchallenge.com

Not only can we help you find interns, we can also provide information and resources to help ensure your intern is ready for the experience, and your business is completely prepared to provide a great experience for the intern. By joining the Internship Challenge, you are not only giving young people a chance at success, you are also helping improve our economy and serving the entire city.

Long Beach boasts some of the best schools in the country. We have a diverse, creative, hard-working student body, and many businesses, large and small, ready to work with our schools and our City.

Now, for the final piece, we have begun a close collaboration between the city, schools, and the broader community to support our ambitious goals for our students. I am confident that with this vision in place and the passion of our residents, students, and community partners, including the readers of the Straight Talk Magazine, we are going to accomplish these goals, and much more.

Robert Garcia is mayor of Long Beach, the 7th largest city in the state. He will be our guest on the Straight Talk Show airing the weeks of September 26 & October 3.
